

IN THE WORLD OF FINANCE

PRESSURE LOVERS N. Y. STOCK MARKET

GENERAL PRICES

Manipulative Interests in Evidence Throughout Morning.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The initial prices of stocks were generally lower, and the market was under pressure for a large part of the first hour, with manipulative interests doing much to force prices to low levels, apparently for the purpose of increasing their holdings of stock.

There was good buying of many stocks on all the declines, but rallies forced by this buying were quickly lost in turn by selling from outside sources, and the movement was irregular and the tone unsettled. Reading was the market leader. Governments unchanged; other bonds quiet.

The manipulative decline in the stock market continued the feature all through the forenoon, prices being forced to reach many stock orders and force some scattered liquidation. The tone for the time was decidedly weak. Reading fell to 14 1/2 after an early rise in the day.

FINANCIAL GOSSIP

The increase in national bank circulation for last week was $3,029,025.

Contracts just placed by the Pennsylvania for 12,400 freight cars, involve an expenditure of $15,000,000.

A gain of 4,000,000 tons is indicated in the pig iron production in 1906 over 1905, which year had broken all previous records by 8,000,000 tons.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1-3-4 per cent, payable October 1.

Recent orders taken by the Allis-Chalmers Company bring the total unfilled business on the books in excess of $12,000,000, or about double the amount booked at this time last year.

The city council of Atlanta, Ga., has appointed a committee to investigate the subject of municipal gas and electric plants and to report upon the feasibility and the best methods of municipal regulation.

President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania railroad, is to be the victim of a whooping cough, contracted from his grandson, Robert. He caught the disease while stopping at Bar Harbor.

National banks have filed applications to withdraw $12,000,000 circulation during the balance of the calendar year. The limit by law is fixed at $3,000,000 a month, and this limit so far as applications are concerned, has been reached in the remaining months of this year.

F. W. Savin, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, has started a petition asking the governors of the stock exchange to adopt a rule that no transaction in call money be made except in hours to be fixed by them. It is thought that the adoption of such a rule would prevent the manipulation of money rates.

Reports from Chicago are to the effect that Swift & Co. is to be the business either of Armour & Co. or of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger. Another reason given for the move is in Swift & Co. stock is that there will be a new stock issue with rights, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York bank representatives of Swift & Co., say they are not interested in putting through a deal whereby either the Armour & Co. or the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger business will be acquired.

The full pamphlet report of the Colorado and Southern Railroad Company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, issued Saturday, shows gross earnings of $1,653,445, an increase of $5,424,782, as compared with 1905. The statement for 1906, however, includes the operations of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek railroad, which was not the case during the preceding years, and, owing to that reason are proportionately larger.

INSANE PATIENTS HELPED BY USE OF WATER CURE

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Sept. 24.—Remarkable results are reported with the water cure at the Michigan Insane Asylum during the last two months, and as a result the entire institution will be equipped with the baths, being the first institution in the country to accept the cure in all departments. Some of the worst patients have been given the treatment. Four or five of them are partially cured. The patients are kept in the flowing water all the time, day and night, and are given their meals there. Several of them, when taken out of the baths, cried and begged to be put back again.

COURT ORDERS HUSBAND TO SUPPORT HIS FAMILY

"Judge, dis man hasn't give me and my children a cent in six months," Besse Segwick told Judge Mills when Harry Segwick was arraigned in Police Court on a charge of failing to support his three small children.

"My children have almost starved because of this husband of mine," said the defendant, who was arraigned on the subject of parental duty, and ordered him to pay $5 a week to his family's support, or be held in court for contempt.

SEWED DYES IN COLLAR AND RUINED LAUNDRY

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 24.—Some person who evidently had a spite against the Sam Sing Lee Laundry Company sent to the laundry with his linen a collar, in the band of which had been carefully sewed an assortment of colored dyes of the "fast" kind. When this collar was placed in the wash with more than $50 worth of other laundry all of it was ruined, and the owners of the laundry must pay for each piece of laundry damaged. The police have been called into the case, but as the Chinese do not seem to know who gave them the collar containing the dyes, it is unlikely that there will be an arrest.

Swift & Company's sales of fresh beef in Washington for the week ending Saturday, Sept. 22, averaged 6.8 cents per pound.

IN LOCAL TRADING

With an Enlarged Attendance Business Is of Small Volume.

PREACHED AT EVERY PORT

With an attendance larger than any day since the beginning of the summer season the business at today's session of the Washington Stock Exchange fell away to ridiculously small proportions, less than 300 shares of stock changing hands, while the bond call was equally neglected. Nor was there any accession of interest with regard to the trend of prices in the few sales recorded, the figures indicating a continued show of the weakness at the close of last week.

Washington Railway common and preferred were almost the exclusive favorites, and in neither case did the promises of better prices recently exhibited fulfill the expectations of brokers and traders. What few transactions occurred were at a loss of values, as well as bright hopes so rudely shattered.

Nearly all the active members of the exchange are returning to their places, the majority having awaited by the accession of E. Southard Parker, A. K. Parris, G. B. Chipman, and Robert Watkins, who have for the first time made their appearance on the floor since their summer vacations. They were all received with hearty congratulations, and the latter kindly wishes at the success of their outings.

BAD BOY AT SEA; DIES A SOUL-SAVER

Strange Life of Sailor Bundy, Evangelist of the Great Lakes.

PREACHED AT EVERY PORT

Sailed the Good Ship "Glad Tidings" From Buffalo to Duluth.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—From a wayward boy, bound before the mast when but ten years old, through a career of soul-saving among the sailors of the great lakes, is the story of Captain Bundy, who died at the age of eighty at his home, 724 Farragut avenue.

Perhaps no man who has sailed the lakes has had a wider range of acquaintances than Captain Bundy. From Chicago to Buffalo and up to Duluth he had touched at every lumber camp. While he was on salt water his travels took him to every country of the world, over every body of navigable water, and practically to every sea port.

Incorrigible When a Boy.

Captain Bundy was born in London, England, in 1826, and from his early years was an incorrigible youth. So opposite was he to all that his parents had hoped that he was bound for seven years to the company that owned the "Abel Gowar," then engaged in the East Indian trade. His first voyage was around the Cape of Good Hope to Bombay.

This was but his first escapade, and nearly every vessel to which he was afterward attached had to record that Bundy had left without notice. Exceptions to this rule were the ships of the British navy, in which he served two years.

The seafaring period of his life developed in him everything that is rough, but he learned thoroughly the art of seamanship, though he was unable to read or write. He later learned to read and write at a Chicago night school.

Deserts Ship at New York.

His travels took him around the world many times, and finally brought him to New York, where another desertion was recorded. Then in the early fifties he came to Chicago and began cruising about the lakes. His ability as a sailing master was recognized, and 1870 found him captain of the merchant schooner Potomac.

While the Potomac was tied up at Halsted street one day in 1870, some women workers of the Free Methodist church came aboard and asked permission to hold religious services in the captain's cabin. He gruffly granted the request, and because he could not well avoid it absorbed much of what was said. He had always been a lover of music and the Methodist hymns so pleased him that he invited the women to return.

Bundy Is Converted.

They came again and in a short time Captain Bundy was converted. He immediately resolved to begin evangelistic work among sailors, and the rest of his life was thus spent until poor health compelled him to retire a year ago.

The converted captain immediately embarked a crew of Christian men and women, the merchant trade, started up the lakes to carry his message to the loggers, the fishermen, and the sailors, who would give ear. Success attended his labors from the start. Soon he found the Potomac unsuited to his purposes and he purchased a steam launch, which he christened "The Glad Tidings." Since that time he has used a steamboat, sail boats and a gasoline launch, each bearing the name Glad Tidings.

Wife an Aid in Work.

Mrs. Bundy, a Scotch woman whom he married in Chicago, was a great aid to him in his evangelistic labors. The churches in Chicago took cognizance of this unique form of Christian work and largely through the efforts of the late Dr. Gordon of the First Congregational Church Captain Bundy was ordained to the ministry and given the title of minister missionary for the great lakes.
